The International Journal of Psychoanalysis is a fully peer-reviewed journal published six times a year. Founded by Ernest Jones with the collaboration of Sigmund Freud in 1920, IJP is the main international vehicle for communication about psychoanalysis, with global reach and readership. IJP regularly publishes extensive contributions by authors from throughout the world. It is facilitated by a system of international editorial boards and the policy of allowing submission and review in all main European languages, followed by translation of accepted papers. Its content includes fully peer-reviewed papers on Psychoanalytic Theory and Technique, sections on Clinical Communications, Research, The Analyst at Work, Education, Psychoanalytic Controversies, Book Reviews and Film Essays.
